

MAIN FEATURES OF NEW TAXI LAW IN EFFECT AUG. 1

Reduces Rates, Abolishes Private Stands on City Property.
ASSURES CLEAN CABS.
Protects the Public Against Thugs—Explanation of the Rules.

The new, taxicab ordinance, working a revolution in taxicab transportation, which The Evening World practically placed on the statute books, goes into effect Aug. 1, and the rules it makes are published herewith for the first time. The work of preparing for the enforcement of its provisions is under way and the Bureau of Licenses will be ready to handle the situation as soon as the ordinance takes effect.

Mayor Gorman is at work on the chief feature of the ordinance, the placing of public taxicabs to succeed the private taxicabs which made taxicab transportation possible. Reduced rates, clean cabs, convenience of patrons, license, and regulated chauffeurs and cabs, prevention of overhauls and the abolition of the practice of a "hustler" riding on the seat with the chauffeur, are among the reforms incorporated in the ordinance. Alderman Courland Nicoll, in the following statement, issued to-day, makes clear all the details of the new law:

"Commencing Aug. 1 unit cabs and taxicabs will be driven from the city streets. These cabs, the mechanism or equipment of which is broken or shabby, will be wanted out and be forbidden to ply as public cabs. Persons using the vehicles may be reasonably assured that the driver is neither incompetent nor a thug. A careful system of licensing all public drivers will be maintained, including the inspection of the license by photograph and signature, and the possession of a public driver's license will be practically a certificate not only of competency, but of character as well.

NEW LAW IN FORCE ON AND AFTER AUG. 1.
A rough rule to follow, in order to find the new fare, is to deduct 2 per cent from the amount shown on the taximeter in the case of one or two passengers, while in the case of three or four passengers the fare is about 10 per cent less than the taximeter shows. This rule does not apply to the cabs run by the Independent Taxiway Owners' Association, where a rate of fare, approximately in accordance with the new ordinance, is already shown.

Signs showing the public hack stands and the number of cabs permitted on each stand are being designed. It is the purpose of the city to erect these signs at practically every place where a hack stand is established.

The attention of the officials of signs and the owners of hotels, should be drawn to Section 4, Article V, of the new ordinance, providing that cabs of property may have a public stand in front of their premises, provided that proper application is made.

"Among the features of the new ordinance, is a provision forbidding the operation of cabs for public hire by any one, except the driver, when actually seated on his vehicle.

"Another provision that it is well to remember, is that one forbidding any person to ride on the box with the driver. So many 'hold-ups' have been made possible by this seemingly innocent provision that it was thought necessary to absolutely forbid the practice.

DRIVERS MUST GIVE PASSENGERS RECEIPT.
Every driver of a public hack must, on demand, give the passenger a receipt on a printed official form, with which he is supplied, for the fare paid. Not only does an actual overcharge render the offending driver liable to a penalty of $10 or ten days, but the driver is also liable to a fine of $10 or ten days for failing to give the receipt.

"It has been said that the new ordinance abolishes private hack stands. This is a correct statement so far as private hack stands in public streets are concerned. But to-day there are several places that are practically hack stands, and these are not on the public streets at all but on private property.

The stand inside the Pennsylvania Railroad station is an example. That stand will not be done away with. It is impossible to prevent any person or corporation from using his own property for a hack stand, and when he does so he may admit to it only if he is charged with such as the traffic will bear for the use of such cabs.

"It is further to be remembered that the ordinance is a public hack ordinance, and therefore affects only those vehicles (exclusive, of course, of cabs and stage) which solicit passengers on the city streets. It does not regulate, nor does it intend to regulate, all vehicles that are used for hire.

Law League to Meet.
The Commercial Law League of America, a national organization composed of 1,000 lawyers, will hold its annual convention at Cape May, July 21-23. Addresses will be made by Col. George M. Rogers of Atlanta, Henry Wolman and Charles A. Boston of New York, and E. A. Krothoff of Kansas City. Bankruptcy legislation, proposed by the league, will be discussed. An attendance of 1,000 is expected.

The Evening World's and Babies' Welfare Association's Great City-Wide Series of Better Babies' Contests Six Sets of Twins Entered for Prizes In Two Humming Baby Health Contests

Brooklyn School and Little Mothers Aid in Manhattan Kept Busy Enrolling Youngsters—West Side Tots Begin Race for Supremacy on Monday in Three Places.

Just one day more and the babies of a big section of the west side will be in the race for the Champion Baby of New York.

Monday will be their day. Contests open at 2 P. M. in three registration centers for all the kiddies between three months and five years living between Fourteenth and Forty-second streets and Fifth avenue and the Hudson River.

Where are the registration places? Why, the mothers know them by heart. So do the fathers, judging from the inquiries they have been making the past two weeks at the headquarters of the Chelsea Neighborhood Association.

But one more! The races start at No. 78 Ninth avenue, No. 438 West Twenty-seventh street and No. 437 West Forty-third street.

The first named center is for babies living between Fourteenth and Twenty-third streets; the second for those who gladden the hearts of parents between Twenty-third and Thirty-fourth streets; the last for those who live between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets. In each case the side boundaries are from Fifth avenue to the Hudson River. Registrations for the three races for which The Evening World offers $100 in money prizes will go on daily from 2 to 4 P. M. until July 28, inclusive.

But to win the big final prize the district will have to enter its very best. Over on the east side at the Little Mothers' Aid, No. 226 Second avenue, a contest has been merrily going on since Monday last and yesterday saw 130 tots entered for prize winners. Among them was a brace of twins, Fred and Anton Winstedt, of No. 604 East Fifteenth street, and Eva and Rachel Kalmanowitz, of No. 138 Second avenue. The former are twenty months, the latter thirteen months old.

Among the list of entries are two Woodson Wilsons and one Miss Margaret Wilson.

Twins ruled the day yesterday also at the big race going on at the playground of School No. 124, Brooklyn, where a quartet of the double-ups were entered. These are Charles and Harry Butler, two years and six months, of No. 217 Tenth street; Theodore and Florence Burmyer, one year and nine months, of No. 217 Thirty-fourth street; John and Frank McMahon, one year, of No. 171 Eighth street, and Milton and Herbert Krasansky, of No. 119 Fifteenth street.

Rah for the twins! Mrs. John Pasinla is another enthusiast for baby contests. She entered Dorothy, one year; Thomas, three years, and Rosalie, five years.

"And I expect to bring one of the prizes home to No. 606 Fourth avenue," she said.

How to Care for the Baby; Some Hints on Bathing

Detailed Instructions on How to Give the Child a Bath—What Is Required and the Care to Be Used.

First of a series of articles on taking care of the baby, written by Wesley C. Cox, Principal of the Play Grounds Association of Public Schools No. 124, Brooklyn.

I.—BATHING OF BABY.

The baby's bath is perhaps the most essential feature in the daily life of the little one. This fact makes it important that all little mothers should know how to bathe an infant correctly.

First, here are the articles absolutely necessary: A room or corner free from drafts; a basin large enough for the child to sit in; two large soft towels; a wash rag; a bar of pure soap and hot water.

Extreme care must be taken to have the temperature of the water correct. Don't put your hand in. Use a thermometer. Any cheap one is good enough.

For babies up to a year old the temperature of the water should always be 97 or 98 degrees F. Children older than this can be bathed in water between 97 and 100 degrees F.

Be sure and get a pure soap, which is soft and mild. A strong caustic soap will injure the infant's skin.

Now, as to the method of bathing. Fill the tub with water so that when the child is put in the tub the water will be up to the child's waist. Take temperature accurately. Allow the baby to sit in the water.

After the bath, take the baby from the tub immediately. Place it on one of the towels and dry carefully with the other. Be sure to get the infant absolutely dry. Remember the corners, as I said before.

When baby is thoroughly dry, dress him immediately in clean, warm clothes and keep him out of all drafts.

Wash out the bath tub and place it to dry. Wash your wash cloth in hot water and hang it out to dry.

Never bathe a baby after feeding.
